Public Notice and Opportunity to Comment

Hanford Site's 1100-EM-1 Operable Unit Work Plan

This Public Notice announces the beginning of a 30-day public comment period on the Hanford Site's first operable unit work plan, 1100-EM-1. The 1100-EM-1 site is under investigation that may lead to cleanup activities under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA). This site is in Hanford's 1100 Area which houses vehicle maintenance operations and warehouse facilities. Seven spill or disposal sites have been identified within this operable unit. These may have received battery acid, paint and paint thinner, antifreeze, hydraulic fluids, waste oils and various solvents.

The purpose of the public participation process is to allow interested citizens the opportunity to evaluate and comment on the draft work plan. Copies of this plan are available at the following locations:

Spokane Public Library
906 Main Ave., Spokane
DOE Reading Room
Federal Building
825 Jadwin Ave., Richland
University of Washington
Suzzalo Library, Seattle
Portland State University Library
Corner of SW Harrison and SW Park

Portland, Oregon

The public can comment on the work plan between June 15 and July 14, 1989. Public meetings will be held at 7 p.m. in Richland at the Holiday Inn on June 28, 1989 and in Seattle at the Seattle Center, Conference Room A on the third floor of the Seattle Center House on June 29, 1989 to provide information on the work plan and a forum for public questions.
